MAINTENANCE SUPERINTENDENT

SNR currently holds a vacancy for an experienced Maintenance Superintendent at its Underground Operation, located at Trinidad, Colorado, USA.

Reporting to the Manager – Colorado Operations you will manage the maintenance support across the operation, including safe, cost-effective, timely and sound engineering solutions.

You will have extensive underground experience coupled with either electrical or mechanical qualifications and a practical understanding of the Mining Legislation. You must be able to demonstrate a solid understanding of work management systems and a proven ability to deliver capital projects.

Your key focus in this position will be to develop and drive long term planning and scheduling of the maintenance system whilst meeting statutory compliance requirements pertinent to underground mining. You will set high standards for the engineering and maintenance areas, and manage projects within budget and that are consistent with the Management Operating Systems (MOS).

With relevant engineering qualifications, you will possess extensive experience in this field and have worked in management roles as part of your experience in the mining industry. This role requires an individual prepared to challenge the norm, drive continuous improvement and who can demonstrate experience in implementing best practice using a fully involved and hands on approach.
